

Toxic Tort

Our experience in toxic tort is unprecedented. At Evert Weathersby Houff our attorneys utilize progressive and cost effective strategies which lead to the dismissal of cases early in the litigation process. Toxic tort cases include allegations of chronic and acute personal injury, property damage, medical monitoring, and emotional distress. EWH attorneys' decades of experience assists clients in various aspects of defending toxic tort claims including investigating claims, strategic budgets and litigation management plans, identifying and hiring of experts, preparing and defending experts for deposition and trial testimony, and defending clients in discovery, settlement negotiations, and trial. The firm's vast knowledge about toxic torts and diligence in defending claims keep our clients beyond satisfied.

EWH clients include manufacturers and suppliers of environmental and chemical toxins such as asbestos, silica, benzene, and PCBs. EWH has represented clients in single actions, class actions, and multi-district litigation.